Word Clouds

Another activity could be to look at the importance of each relationship and create a wordle- word cloud. This could illustrate the importance and number of relationships. Word clouds can also be created using slips of paper. Cut (before or during session) an A4 piece of paper into perhaps 12 slips of paper of differing sizes of rectangles. Write a different relationship on each slip- use the largest piece for the most important relationship. Fit the writing to the size and shape of paper, and then arrange the slips back into the A4 shape. Try different colours and fonts, add pictures, be creative.
